THE GENTLE ALTERNATIVE

Thymuskin® SCLERO discret for the skin care of the intimate area

The renewability and the rate of cell division already decrease in the late twenties. Due to the aging process, dermal elasticity, the proportion of fat tissue and the ability to bind moisture decrease. The dry skin is often prone to irritation and itching. It becomes increasingly thinner and more sensitive. The regular care with Thymuskin SCLERO discret reduces itching, stabilizes, regenerates and normalizes the state of the skin.

Lichen sclerosis

Lichen sclerosis is a chronic inflammatory, non-infectious condition of the vulva. All age groups are affected.

Itching, burning, pain

The clinical symptoms are characterised by itching, burning, pain in general and painful sexual intercourse. Lichen sclerosis patients have a highly sensitive, irritable vulva skin. Choosing the right therapy and care is of decisive importance.

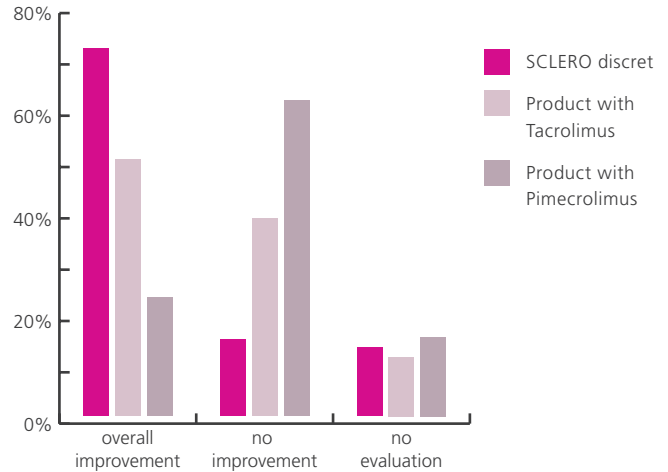

Immune-modulation

The immune-modulatory effect of Thymuskin SCLERO discret has proven to provide effective and gentle intimate care^{1,2}

Men also affected

Thymuskin SCLERO discret is also applicable to men.

Treatment and care of genital Lichen sclerosis¹

Strengthens the immune system of the skin cells

Thymuskin SCLERO discret contains the GKL-02 thymic complex, which is a mimicry of the natural thymic total extract. It is bovine-free and has a cell-mediating immune-modulatory effect. Thymic peptides are known as key molecules for the effectivity of the human immune system and they are being used in skin care and medical practice since many years.

For treatment of Lichen sclerosis

During a clinical observational study about intimate care, an improvement up to complete freedom of symptoms could be confirmed in 80% of all cases¹.

Highly effective – no side effects

Thymuskin SCLERO discret combines a highly effective intimate care, free of any side effects. „Analog good results, compared to the calcineurin inhibitors, were made with the approach using a thymic peptide-active agent (Sclero Discret Thymuskin Intimate Care Cream).“²
